LOOKS BAD FOR DURANT

Damaging Evidence Against the Alleged Church Murderer.

CHAIN OF EVIDENCE COMPLETE.

A Reputable Lady Member of the Church Who Saw the Prisoner and Miss Lamont Enter the Church on the Day of Her Mysterious Disappearance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—A local paper says the last link in the chain of evidence against Theodore Durant has been discovered. A woman who lives across the street from Emanuel church has reported to the police that she saw Durant and Blanche Lamont enter the church at 4:10 on April 3, the day of Miss Lamont's disappearance. The woman's name is Mrs. Leake, and she lives at No. 124 Bartlett street. She has been a member of the church for a number of years. She knew both Durant and Miss Lamont intimately, and therefore cannot be mistaken with regard to the identity of either. She says she has remained silent since the discovery of the bodies of the two girls because she did not wish to undergo the annoyance of being a witness in the case, and did not consent to divulge her information to the police until she became convinced that it was a duty she owed to the state.

On April 3 Mrs. Leake sat at the window of her residence nearly all the afternoon looking for her daughter, whom she expected to arrive from San Mateo. At 4 o'clock she saw a couple coming up the street, one of whom she instantly recognized as Durant; but at first she was puzzled over the identity of the girl. She thought that the young lady was Lucille Turner, but as the couple came nearer Mrs. Leake recognized the girl as Blanche Lamont. Miss Lamont wore a short schoolgirl's dress and carried a package of school books. The dress and the school books were afterwards found secreted in the church.

Mrs. Leake knew nothing detrimental to Durant. She had always considered him "such an exemplary young man," but notwithstanding that fact she thought it exceedingly imprudent for the girl to go into the church with him alone. She feared some one might have seen them and make unpleasant remarks. She imagined that they had some errand in the church and wanted to see them on the street again before she left the window.

She waited a long time, but household duties finally called her to another part of her house, and she was obliged to give up her vigil.

Mrs. Leake's testimony completes the chain of evidence against Durant. Three schoolgirls saw Durant and Blanche Lamont riding on a Powell street car at 2:30 on the day that Miss Lamont disappeared. Attorney Quinn saw the couple a few blocks from the church a few minutes before 4 o'clock. Now comes Mrs. Leake, who says she saw Durant and Miss Lamont enter the church a few minutes later. George King, the organist, has already testified that he entered the church about 3 o'clock and saw Durant coming down from the attic. Durant's hair was disheveled, his face was red, he was panting for breath, and was in a state of utter physical and nervous collapse. In answer to inquiries an explained that he had been engaged in repairing electric wires in the organ loft, and had been overcome by gas. An expert electrician afterwards examined the wires, and testified that no repairs of the nature Durant professed to have made had been made within six months.

Murdered for His Pension Money.

ARREVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—Duck Wade, an aged and industrious Confederate veteran, was brutally murdered at the house of Sam Wallace, on the outskirts of Abbeville, yesterday. Mrs. Samuel Wallace and her brother Rush, a half-witted boy, are now in jail, the former being strongly suspected of the crime. Wade was a pensioner, and it is thought he was murdered for his pension money, having recently received it.

A Bold Thief Captured.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 17.—A fine looking stranger entered Chatterton's jewelry store and asked to see some diamond rings. As the salesman's back was turned the stranger grabbed a handful of the rings and rushed to the street. Being pursued, he dropped his plunder, all of which was recovered. After going several blocks the thief was captured. He gave his name as George Simmons, of Nashville, Tenn.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 17.—George Browning, a prominent resident of this county, was shot by his wife and killed instantly. The weapon used was a pistol. Hundreds followed him to the jail door and raised a yell when the door closed on him.

CUBANS ENCOURAGED.

Campos' Demand for More Troops Pleases the Insurgents' Sympathizers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—President Palma, of the Cuban revolutionary headquarters, said today that a distinguished Cuban, now in this city on a secret mission, has received a letter dated Aug. 4 from his brother, one of the best known artists in Cuba, describing an engagement that had taken place on that day.

The letter in part says: "General Gomez, with 500 Cubans, attacked a convoy of Spanish troops going from Guanararo to Port au Prince today. The Spaniards, under Isaiz, numbered 1,000, and were well equipped. The fighting was hot and heavy, and at one time the patriots almost succeeded in capturing the convoy. A Spanish major and another officer were killed, also seventy soldiers. The Cuban loss was trifling."

It is reiterated every day at Cuban headquarters that the lack of detailed news is owing to the strict censorship exercised by the Spanish authorities over the mail and telegraph lines. President Palma and his colleagues profess to believe, however, that the engagements that have so far taken place have been mostly in favor of their side. They point to the fact that General Campos, in asking for more troops, practically indorses their belief.

TWO OFFICIALS OUSTED.

Beatrice, Neb., in a State of Wildest Excitement.

CONSPIRED TO ROB THE CITY.

City Clerk Phillips Sold City Warrants to a Bank Which Had Already Been Sold to Other Citizens—He and the Water Commissioner Arrested.

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 17.—Beatrice is in a state of the wildest excitement today occasioned by the arrest yesterday of City Clerk J. T. Phillips and Water Commissioner George Hawkins upon a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The information under which the arrest was made was filed by W. P. Norcross, president of the Farmers and Merchants' bank. Some time ago City Clerk Phillips sold to the Farmers and Merchants' bank city warrants amounting to nearly $1,100, discounting the same at 3 per cent.

Upon examining the warrants the president of the bank discovered they were in favor of parties who are in the habit of holding their warrants until paid by the city. By use of the telephone he learned that the parties to whom the warrants were issued held warrants for the exact amounts of those purchased by the bank. In the meantime Phillips had taken the certificates of deposit received in payment for the warrants and placed it to his account at the Beatrice National bank, and upon its presentation to the Farmers' and Merchants' bank payment was refused.

It is understood Hawkins is implicated in the matter through the fact that a part of the warrants were drawn up on the water fund, and Clerk Phillips claims they were furnished him by the water commissioner. The city council has declared the offices vacant.

The son, who occupied a room in the rear of the building, barely escaped with his life. It is thought the woman was dragged before the fire was set, as log houses burn very slowly, and they should have wakened up in time to escape. Their bodies were burned to a crisp.

Parochial Schools Not Included.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 17.—Assistant Attorney General Newell gave his opinion that the new law requiring the United States flag to be placed on public buildings and school houses does not apply to so-called parochial schools or to Sunday schools under the charge of religious denominations, where religious instruction is imparted. While declining to discuss the constitutionality of the act, he declared the senate bill to be a vicious one.

He was born in Todd county, Ky., March 31, 1823, was graduated at West Point with General Grant, served in the Mexican war under General Scott and was at the siege of Vera Cruz, the battle of Cherebus county and storming of Chapultepec. He came to Texas in 1853 and was state senator of the Eighth judicial district from 1858 to 1890, when he was elected to the state senate, which position he resigned and raised the Ninth Texas infantry, Confederate volunteers. He was shortly made a brigadier general and later a major general, and distinguished himself on many battle fields.

After the war he resumed the practice of law, and in 1875 was elected United States senator over Hon. John H. Reagan and ex-Governor Throckmorton, and was re-elected in 1881 over the same opposition. He was defeated for a third term in 1887 because he would not yield to the popular clamor against railroad and other corporations. Since which time he has lived in retirement.

JAPAN'S GREAT STORM.

Over a Thousand Lives Lost Through Hurricane and Flood.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Reports have been received here to the effect that Japan had been visited by a terrible storm on the 24th and 25th of July. The hurricane swept across Kiushu, passed along the shores of the island sea, crossed over the central districts of the mainland and emerged into the Pacific ocean.

Its track was everywhere marked by great loss of life and destruction of property, and as the catastrophe was followed by a heavy rainstorm, inundations added their devastating effects to the havoc wrought by the wind. It is calculated that over a thousand people were killed or drowned.

Ujina, the town that served as a military base during the recent war, felt the full force of the tempest. The place was completely swamped by the sea, and over 100 boats were smashed. Among these boats were 120 belonging to the army stores department. They were laden with supplies destined for the use of the troops in the Liao Tung peninsula.

Deadly Duel Between Doctors.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 17.—The report of several shots in rapid succession was heard to come from the office of Dr. H. R. Holmes, in the Dekum building. The tenants of the building rushed in and found the prostrate bodies of Dr. Holmes and Dr. Robert Ausplund, each of whom was holding a smoking pistol in his hand, and both badly wounded. Ausplund's wounds will undoubtedly result fatally. It is thought the duel was due to a criticism of Holmes of Ausplund's method of treating a patient in the Portland hospital when Ausplund called at Holmes' office to make him retract.

Death from Yellow Fever.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Burt E. Hyde, who was transferred from Hoffman to Swineburne Island, suffering from yellow fever, died yesterday afternoon. THE DOSPAT MASSACRE.

Confirmation of the Reported Attack by Bulgarians.

A DYNAMITE BOMB FOR REFUGEES.

A Hundred Persons Killed and Three Hundred Houses Destroyed by Fire—Fomenting Fresh Atrocities to Incense Europe Against the Turkish Government.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Times prints a dispatch from Sofia confirming the report of the attack by 600 Bulgarians on the Mohammedan village of Dospat, across the Turkish frontier, before dawn on Saturday last, as was cabled to the Associated Press on Tuesday. The later reports received show that 300 houses were burned and 100 persons killed. A dynamite bomb was thrown from a mosque into a crowd of refugees.

The Times says that the villages lie in the wildest recess of the Rhodope mountains, southeast of Barak. It is inhabited by Mohammedan Bulgarians, brave and warlike fanatics, who hate the Christian Bulgarians more than the Turks, and are, therefore, likely to take a terrible revenge.

It is believed that the attack was arranged by the Macedonian committee in order to provoke fresh atrocities, and thus incense Europe against Turkey.

The Bulgarian government has explained to the press in reply to the protest of that government the difficulty of watching the frontier because a large concentration of troops would be regarded with suspicion by Turkey.

BAKE A BATCH OF BISCUITS

Sift one quart of flour, two rounded teaspoons of baking powder, and one teaspoon of salt into a bowl, add three teaspoons of COTTOLINE and rub together until thoroughly mixed; then add sufficient milk to make a soft dough. Knead slightly, roll out about half an inch thick and cut with a small biscuit cutter. Place a little apart in a greased pan, and bake in a quick oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. These biscuits should be a delicate brown top and bottom, light on the sides, and snowy white when broken open.

The secret of success in this recipe, as in others, is to use but two-thirds as much COTTOLINE as you used to use of lard. COTTOLINE will make the biscuit light, delicious, wholesome. Better than any biscuit you ever made before. Try it. Be sure and get genuine COTTOLINE. Sold everywhere in tins with trade-marks—“Cottolene” and “star” head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin.

THE ART OF MARCUS.

A QUAKER HOOSIER WHO COULD PAINT OR MAKE A MATCH.

Early Struggles With a Talent That Could Not Be Suppressed—One of His Best Known Pictures—How He Brought About a Happy Marriage.

One of the unique characters of the state is Marcus Mote, the veteran Quaker artist of Richmond. He is now 78 years of age and is very feeble. His memory of things that happened in his youth and prime is keen and true, but the events of the day pass as the summer clouds. It was he who first defied the Quaker antipathy to art in oil and brush, and he secured the petition which caused the legislature to provide that the public schools of Indiana should teach drawing. The petition was presented by Senator Baxter, since deceased. Two years previously the Quaker artist had secured the teaching of drawing in the public schools of Richmond by ordinance.

Marcus Mote's talent was born with him. It is said of him that when only 2½ years old his mother came home from meeting one day and found him scratching a rude picture on the foot-board of the bedstead with a piece of charcoal. The Quakers held that painting was of the devil and savor of idolatry. The boy was rebuked, with a remark, "I do believe this mischief was born in thee."

There was no relenting as the lad grew up and the propensity to draw and paint developed. He was forbidden to indulge his talent, but he could not be repressed. It is evident that had he met with encouragement and aid, instead of rebuke, fame and fortune would have crowned the artist with their richest laurels. As it was Marcus had to turn to the woods for his colors. The primaries he derived from red root, or from red ink, the yellows from yellow root, and for blue he was obliged to content himself with bluing from his mother's washing tub.

"The only stealing I have ever done," he said to a Journal reporter, "was in taking bluing from my mother's bluing bag. For brushes I used the hair in the squirrel's tail, and I used to accompany my father when hunting so as to get the tails for my painting. At first all my work was done with the pen. When I secured my first box of water colors I worked as late at night as I could and then spent the rest of the night awake picturing what I would do."

As the boy grew to manhood he became more assertive of his art and persisted in painting landscape and portraits in spite of the grumbling of members of the meeting. He lived then in Warren county, O., and attended quarterly meeting at Waynesville. He was chosen clerk of the meeting at one time, which led to the protest against his work rising to the surface. He would have been disowned had not Thomas Evans, father of the well known oil millers of this city, used his influence to prevent it.

Marcus Mote lived in Lebanon, O., for many years and personally knew the great Tom Corwin, whose portrait he painted for the state of Ohio. It hangs in the statehouse at Columbus, marked "By an unknown artist." In speaking of this painting the artist said:

"My daughter happened to be in Columbus and went to the statehouse. She discovered the inscription. Corwin came to me one day when he was at home from congress and said that the fellows down at Washington seemed to think that nobody in Ohio could do anything, and that he had refused to sit for a portrait for an artist there for that reason. He wanted the work done at home. He sat for the portrait a number of times, and I became well acquainted with him."

"He had a daughter, Eva, who was his great pride, and together with her mother, he was very ambitious for her. There was a young man then teaching in Warren county who was poor in pocket, but had a strong will, a clean heart and first class ability. He was modest, however, and his ability was not known. He showed Eva Corwin so much attention that her father finally forbade her seeing the young man, and the girl was seriously affected by the breaking up of the friendship. She was kept closely at home in her father's suburban residence, and her friends noticed that her health was beginning to be affected. She had a friend named Jennie Hardy, near Drake, who had the confidence of Eva's parents, and one day I met Jennie and asked her to bring Eva to my studio on the next day at 1 o'clock sharp."

"What for?" she asked.
"Never thee mind," I said, "but do as I tell thee. Now, I want thee to promise me that thee will. Will thee?"
"She said she would. Pretty soon I met the young man and I said that I wanted him to come to my studio on the next day within two or three minutes after 1 o'clock sharp."

"What for?" he asked.
"Never thee mind," I said. "Now, I want thee to give me thy hand, promising that thee will be there just as I said."

"He gave me his hand. The next day at 1 there was a knock at my door, and there were Jennie and Eva. Jennie left Eva with me. As I closed the door she said:

"What does this mean?"
"I want to see thee," I said. "Take a chair."

"It was only a minute or two that there was another knock, and I opened the door. The young man was there, and I brought him in, saying to Eva, 'This is George R. Sage. Now you are my prisoners for one hour. I want thee and George to be together for awhile. At the end of the hour I will call for you and let you out.' Now that was the way in which those two young people planned to get married. George R. Sage justified my faith in his high character. He is now a judge on the federal bench in Cincinnati."—Indianapolis Journal.

WYLLIE, THE HERD LADDIE.

Scotland's Great Checker Player Still Expert at the Age of Seventy-six.

Sixty years a champion is the remarkable record of James Wyllie, the most famous checker player in the world. Wyllie was champion of the town of Kilmarnock, when but 15 years of age, and by virtue of his marvelous record against the best players all over the world for half a century he may quite reasonably be called the greatest player on earth. Wyllie is now 76 years old and very deaf, but his sight is still keen, and he is yet able to defeat nearly every man he meets. "I'm too old for draughts," he says sadly, but he usually manages to win whenever the stakes are worth securing.

Wyllie was born in the Pierce Hill barracks, near Edinburgh, in 1820, and at the time of his birth his father was a sergeant major in the Scots Guards. As a mere lad Wyllie was apprenticed to a Kilmarnock weaver, but his remarkable skill as a checker player made him famous and induced him to abandon learning the weaver's trade. A drover named Porteus whom young Wyllie had beaten took Wyllie to Edinburgh and surprised the natives. Porteus began a game with a local player of reputation named Bettram and then found an excuse to drop out of the contest. "Let my herd laddie play for me," he said. Bettram consented, and to his amazement the herd laddie won 59 games out of 60, and Bettram only succeeded in securing a single draw. The story of this achievement gave Wyllie great local fame, which was increased when he defeated Professor Andrew Anderson and Robert Martins, two great Scotch players.

Wyllie then became a watch peddler and traveled about Scotland selling timepieces as a regular business and playing checkers for money against all comers. "A shilling a game" was his price no matter who played against him, and when he first visited America in 1873 he charged his opponents 25 cents a game. During this tour he played over 11,000 games, losing less than 50. In 1891 he again visited America and won 17,654 out of 19,517 games, drew 1,754 and lost only 109. In match games he defeated C. F. Barker, the celebrated Boston expert, but was beaten by Clarence A. Freeman, the Providence expert, who is of Indian descent, and the late R. D. Yates of Brooklyn. Wyllie also played throughout England and Australia and has made a great deal of money as the result of his skill.

Wyllie claimed to be the champion of the world until about a year ago, when he was beaten by a young Scotch expert, James Ferrie.

OBITUARY.

DeWitt Van Zandt.

DeWitt Van Zandt died in Thrall Hospital at 1:15 o'clock, this afternoon, aged about fifty years. The cause of death was cirrhosis of the liver. He was taken sick in March last and was in the hospital for several weeks. He left the hospital in May much improved and went to his sister's, Mrs. Millsbaugh's, near Walden, where he remained for a time, returning to this city in June. He expected to be able to resume work, but was taken sick again, and again went to the hospital where he sank steadily until death ended his sufferings.

Mr. Van Zandt was a son of the late Rev. Dr. Van Zandt, for many years pastor of the Brick Church at Montgomery and afterwards a professor in the theological seminary of the Reformed Church at New Brunswick, N. J. He was born in Louisiana, where his father was in charge of a church, and was educated at Rutgers College, from which he graduated in 1867. After leaving college he taught for a year in the Monticello Academy, under F. G. Snook, and then studied law with the late Judge Wilkin, in this city. After his admission to the bar, he remained with Judge Wilkin as managing clerk for several years and then opened an office and engaged in the active practice of his profession. He had a good knowledge of law and its principles, was careful, painstaking and conscientious and his services were often sought by his fellow lawyers and he often served them as referee, commissioner, etc. He lacked the confidence in himself necessary for the trial of cases in open court and never attained a large general practice. Of late years he did but little business, except such as was thrown in his way by other lawyers.

Mr. Van Zandt was a man of kindly impulses and gentle ways. He had many friends who were loyal unto the end, and who by many acts of unobtrusive kindness made his last sickness less hard to bear.

His only surviving relatives are a sister, Mrs. Millsbaugh, residing near Walden, who was with him until he lapsed into unconsciousness several days ago, and a brother, Charles, who lives at Freehold, N. J.

The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

Mrs. Helen St. John.

Mrs. Helen, wife of Mr. Stephen St. John, died at her home in Port Jervis last night, of typhoid fever, aged forty-eight years, ten months and eleven days.

She was a daughter of Aaron and Emma Ostrander, of Ridgeway, Pa., and was married to Mr. St. John twenty five years ago. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Elizabeth and Amelia, both residing at home. Also by her mother who resides at Wellsburg, Pa.

Mrs. St. John and her daughter, Amelia, went to Long Branch, four weeks ago, to visit Miss Margaret Parker, formerly an art teacher in the Middletown and Port Jervis schools. While there Miss Parker was stricken down with typhoid fever and Mrs. St. John and her daughter both contracted the disease. They returned home on July 29th. Mrs. St. John died as above stated and her daughter is still very ill.

Mrs. St. John was a member of the Reformed Church in Port Jervis, and lived a life consistent with her profession. She was a woman of more than ordinary intellect and possessed many admirable qualities that endeared her to her friends.

Hon. Martin Cole.

Judge Martin Cole, one of the most prominent citizens of Sussex county, N. J., died at his home at the Brick House, Thursday, at 10:30 a. m., of general debility, in his seventy-ninth year. He was born on the "Clove" homestead farm in Montague. He was a son of James R. Cole and grandson of Martin Cole who erected the first frame house in that part of the county.

Judge Cole was a Democrat, and while his life was largely devoted to to agricultural pursuits, he found time to take part in public affairs. He held the office of Justice of the Peace for thirty-five years, was a Commissioner of Deeds and administered many estates; he was township assessor for seventeen years, and represented his county in the Legislature in 1888 and '89. In 1878 he was appointed by Gov. McClellan one of the lay judges of the Court of Common Pleas. In the spring of 1890 he was appointed one of the judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, in which capacity he served eleven years. His wife, who was Lydia J. VanEtten, of Deerpark, died Dec. 25th '94.

The surviving children are: Eleanor Cole, at the homestead; James E., of Montague; Thos. N. E. Cole, postmaster at Brick House, and Dr. Martin Cole, of Hornellsville.

The Asylums at Orange.

The Asylum ball team left on train 38, this morning, for Orange, N. J., to play the Orange Athletics, this afternoon. The players were accompanied by a number of their friends.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

Personal Mention—Montana a State of Many Waves.

From a Special Correspondent.

—The Misses May and Adelaide Grier are visiting friends in Warwick.

—It is a pity that Montana cannot be removed from the map of the United States. Not but what it looks well; it is a pretty enough color and fills up part of the northwestern corner very acceptably, but, according to the newspapers, it has constantly on hand a large variety of waves both hot and cold. If they were nice, well behaved, stay-at-home waves no one could have a word to say against them, but apparently they are just lying in wait there, ready at a moment's notice to leave their lairs and spread all over the country to the great discomfort of the inhabitants thereof. You may be feeling very contented and comfortable on a pleasantly cool summer day when you take up your paper and read that a hot wave has started from Montana and is rapidly making its way eastward. We do not want it in the past; we are happy without it and would like to choose our own company, but Montana is tired of it, forsooth, so off it starts. In the same way, if we are having agreeable winter weather, all our enjoyment of it is checked by reading that a cold wave has left Montana and will very shortly reach New York State. We fall to shivering at once and being miserable in advance. Now, a state like that ought to be abolished. It is big enough to know better, and if it does not it is simply a public nuisance. No one would find any fault with its manufacture of waves if it kept them at home where they would not annoy strangers, but it really isn't right to allow such things to be wandering all about such a vast country as the United States, subjecting everybody to so much discomfort. If this state of affairs continues, Uncle Sam's attention ought to be called to the matter as soon as possible. G. H.

The Farmer's Complaint.

"The complaint of the farmer is proverbial," said a gentleman yesterday, "and a season in which he would not be able to find some cause for it would be extremely rare. I have just come from the west, where I have had occasion to visit a great number of farming districts, and I must say I have never seen such crops as they are having there this year. One farmer was showing me the result of fine growing weather and superior skill in cultivating when I said to him:

"Well, you ought to be satisfied with such crops as these. There is certainly nothing lacking. You have no cause for complaint this year."

"The old farmer scratched his head and stood in a meditative mood for a moment, then he replied, 'Well, you know, such crops as these is pesky hard on the soil.'—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Rather Difficult.
Squire (in dogcart)—Here, you fool! Hold his head!—Punch.

A Baffled Heroine.

There was a collision in the St. Clair flats the other night between a propeller and a steam yacht from Buffalo. The yacht's mast was snapped off close to the deck, and part of her rail was carried away. But after the passengers and crew had hurriedly assembled on deck and taken stock of themselves it was thought that all on board had escaped without injury. Suddenly there came an agonized cry from below:

"Where is my leg? Won't somebody help me to find my leg?"

An excited girl among the passengers became frantic at this appeal.

"Why don't you do something for the poor fellow? Aren't all you great, hulking men ashamed to stand there and let him suffer? Captain, can't you do something?"

But the captain, strange to say, only laughed a low, cruel laugh.

"Shame on you, fiends in human form!" said the brave girl. "I am but a weak woman, but no man shall die unassisted before my very eyes."

And with a withering glance at the strangely reluctant men on deck the heroine plunged down the companion way.

The cries and groans had ceased when she reached the bottom of the steps. Instead she found the engineer calmly strapping on a wooden leg.

"It's all right now, miss," he explained. "I found it under my bunk. Now let the old thing stick if she wants to. This leg's work and is good as a life preserver. There's no more in being a cripple, after all."—Buff. Ex-Press.

Gloomy.

"Meet you ever again with your new leg?"

Gentle James O'Donnell stood with flashing eyes and lowered lip.

"I met it," he answered, bitterly retorted. "It's a damned fine piece. A new character you had, but yesterday, I suppose that means it will be another six months' work."

It was rapidly the floor, she wrung violently her hands and bewailed copiously her lot.

Why was not she the heroine of some thing else?

Ah, why indeed?

These sappy novels bring one in contact with such disagreeable people.—Detroit Tribune.

The Early Bird.

A neighbor whose place adjoined Brown Albert's had a vegetable garden, in which he had a great interest. Mr. Albert had one, and both men were particularly interested in their patch. One morning, meeting by the fence, the neighbor said, "How is it, Mr. Albert, you are never troubled with bugs while my vines are crowded with them?"

"My friend," replied Mr. Albert, "I rise very early in the morning, gather all the bugs from my vines and throw them into your yard."—Arctonant.

A Sympathetic Nature.

He—Why do I see my darling wife? She—Because Mr. J. has given his wife a diamond brooch that cost him $500.

He—But why does that make you cry? She—"On your account."

He—"On my account?"

She—"Yes, I know how it hurts you to spend money and yet have to buy me a diamond brooch that costs more than $500."—Texas Siftings.
